68 Dropped By School Last Year

Forty-five men were dropped from school at the end of last year as a result of academic failure. This brings the total for the year to 65 and establishes the highest percentage of failure in a decade, it was announced by W. Storrs Lee, Dean of Men.

The total loss for 1949-50 more than doubles that of last year when 28 were dropped and compares with 17 for 1947-48, 19 for 1946-47. Three women were dropped as a result of academic failure.

Of the 45 men lost, freshmen made up more than half, with a total of 25, sophomores 11, juniors 5, seniors 4. Among the freshmen there was little relationship between secondary school records and their college records. Several men were lost who had done poorly in preparatory schools, but some were also lost who were top-ranking or among the top-ranking students in their schools. Seventeen were high school graduates, 27 were private school graduates, which corresponds to the approximate ratio of public to private school students enrolled.

Among the 45, seven had previously been dropped and are not eligible for readmission. Nine expect to enter other colleges or look for temporary employment. Seventeen attended summer schools, and all but two of these acquired creditable records and have been readmitted. Seven are discontinuing college. Of the 45, a total of about twenty-one have been readmitted for this fall by the Administration Committee.

Campus Station Starts 2nd Year

Radio station WMCRS, the Middlebury College radio service, officially launched its second year of broadcasting today. Part time station operation was begun during Freshman Week to help orientate students to Middlebury activities.

The station begins this year with improved equipment and soundproof studios in the Student Union building paid for under agreement with the college administration.

The program schedule, as announced by William S. Brackett '53, program director, will consist mainly of recorded music, sports broadcasts and news summaries. New features include an hour and a half of classical and semi-classical music from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Interviews will be broadcast from the Snack Bar every Friday evening from 9:30 to 10:00 p.m., and there will be news summaries at 1:00, 5:30, and 10:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A program innovation will be a nightly broadcast of New York Times news flashes at 8:55 p.m. The news will be wired from New York in the evening so that the coverage will be up to the minute.

ANNOUNCEMENT

This is the first edition of the CAMPUS to be printed by the offset process. The change from letterpress to offset was necessitated by sharply increased printing costs, and by the shutting down of the Champlain Printers letterpress department.

Copy for offset printing is pasted on a dummy of which a picture is taken. A zinc plate is then exposed under the negative. The zinc plate attached to a roller in the press comes in contact with a rubber roller which in turn carries the inked imprint into contact with the newsprint, and the page is printed.

Although offset is considerably cheaper than letterpress, costs have risen to such an extent that CAMPUS publication costs are higher now than ever before.

13 New Faculty Members Listed

Thirteen appointments to the Middlebury College faculty for the 1950-51 academic year were announced today by Pres. Samuel S. Stratton.

Charles L. Sanford, a graduate of Harvard, will be an instructor in American literature while Dr. Reginald L. Cook, head of that department, is on sabbatical leave in Europe and California. Dr. Jacob A. Weicksel of the University of Delaware will serve as an assistant professor of chemistry. Dr. David Kingsbury Smith, who holds three advance degrees from Harvard, enters the economics department as an assistant professor.

Named as instructors are: biology, Robert P. McIntosh of the University of Wisconsin; geology, Philip K. Brown of Dartmouth College; home economics, Miss Cora M. Muller of

Student Body To Participate In Sesquicentennial Program Planned For Next Weekend

A milestone in 150 years of student tradition will be reached during the Sesquicentennial Celebration of the college, Sept. 29 and 30, when the members of the present student body will follow the traditions of the students of fifty and a hundred years.

Students will march by classes in the Sesquicentennial academic procession on Saturday morning, Sept. 30, in keeping with the tradition that witnessed similar academic processions on the occasion of the Semicentennial and Centennial convocations.

The two day celebration will open on Friday, Sept. 29 at 11:30 a.m., with the Anniversary Service in the Congregational Church, scene of many commencement exercises before the completion of Mead Memorial Chapel.

In view of the limited capacity of the church, two representatives of each student organization, fraternity and sorority and all members of the senior class have been invited to attend in a body. There will also be limited seating accommodations for members of the other undergraduate classes.

According to the recent vote of the Administration Committee there will be no official holiday for the Sesquicentennial Celebration. However, there will be no

364 Men, Women Enter; New Class Largest Ever

Breaking all records in the history of the college, 364 freshman men and women have been enrolled for the 1950-51 school year, bringing the total enrollment to 1,188 according to the most recent report. This figure is only slightly lower than the 1949 enrollment of 1,231. Approximately twenty-five post-graduate men and women have been enrolled for this year. Included in the new enrollment figure are eleven transfer women, four juniors and seven sophomores, and eight transfer men.

Representing twenty-two states and nine foreign countries, the majority of the freshman class of 222 men and 142 women are still from New York, Massachusetts, and the New England states. Among the foreign countries represented are Germany, Norway, England, Peru, Brazil, Switzerland, Canada, The Netherlands, and Mexico. Traveling the greatest distance to study at Middlebury, excluding foreign countries, are one student from California and one from Washington.

HOUSE DISPLAYS

Homecoming decorations by fraternity houses must be completed by 9 a.m. Saturday, September 30, to be eligible for judging, it was announced by the Interfraternity Council. The judges will inspect all displays shortly after the 9 a.m. deadline.

A limit of $15 has been placed on the cost of materials for each display. Plans for displays should be submitted to John Hagen '51, by Wednesday, September 27, so that displays will not be duplicated. The I.F.C. is encouraging houses to plan projects coinciding with the theme of the Sesquicentennial Program.

Kaleid Sets New Publication Date

The Sesquicentennial Kaleidoscope will be issued in December instead of September 28 as was previously announced. This delay is due to production difficulties encountered this summer. The 1950 yearbook will be a history of Middlebury's one hundred and fifty years rather than a record of one school year.

This change will enable the editors to climax the college history with an account of the sesquicentennial celebration, which will take place on September 29 and 30.

The 240 page book is expected to go to press on October 7, and it is believed that the books will be ready for distribution before school closes for the holidays. Alumni subscribers are being notified of this change by letter.

The 1951 Kaleidoscope, under the editorship of John L. Taylor '52 and staff, will be issued on May 25, 1951. It will be the first yearbook to include senior rather than junior class portraits.

Sittings for the portraits will be held during the first two weeks in October. The three year contract with a photographic studio which was made last year and approved by the Men's and Women's assemblies has been terminated in accordance with provisions in the contract for such action, and the Donbar Studio of New York has been engaged for the job.

Assistant editors will be chosen from the Sophomore class about November 1. A call for Freshman reporters will be issued in the near future.

Carr Hall To Be Completed In January

With the completion of North and South Battell Halls, new women's $400,000 dormitory unit, Dr. Samuel S. Stratton, president of Middlebury College, announced on August 22 that work had started on the construction of a recitation building to be named Carr Hall and erected in memory of Reid L. Carr, native of the nearby town of Cornwall. Mr. Carr was a prominent New York lawyer, trustee and alumnus of Middlebury College prior to his death two years ago. The Reid L. Carr Prize already established at Middlebury awards the income from $1,500 to a male member of the senior class who is proficient in English Literature.

Carr Hall will be of modified Georgian style and faced with limestone from local quarries to harmonize with Forest and Munroe Halls. The building will be two stories high with a full basement, and the cost of construction of this newest addition to the Middlebury campus will be approximately $150,000. Funds for the construction and endowment have been provided by the estate of Mrs. Reid L. Carr.

When Carr Hall is completed some time in late January, it will be used to house the Fine Arts and other departments of the college. The entrance lobby will contain oak paneling from Mr. Carr's New York office. A well lighted basement will provide facilities for lectures and classrooms. The first floor will have a memorial lobby, a Fine Arts library, offices and classrooms, while the upper floor will contain two art studios.

The contract for the construction of this new recitation hall has been awarded to Austin & Company of New York. This is the same firm that erected Battell Hall.

To College with a Purpose

Academic failures, discussed in a news story on page one, reached sixty-five last year. The axe fell on fraternity and neutral men, veterans and non-veterans, and prep and high school students alike. Few of the students who flunked out were heavily involved in activities.

Letters were sent by the Dean's Office to a representative group of the flunkees with the request that they give their own reason for failure. The most common reply was lack of any objective or purpose in college.

This lack of purpose can partly be attributed to immaturity. The classes are younger now than in any post-war year. The veterans are gone, taking with them the steadying influence of a more mature approach to college life. Of the class that entered three years ago only five freshmen flunked out; two years ago, eighteen; and of last year's freshmen, thirty-four, nine in February and the rest in June.

Also, until last year courses were conducted on a one semester basis. The procrastinator was less apt to find himself in hot water when cramming for a final exam on four months' work than such a person now who faces exams based on eight months' work.

A factor has arisen which may reverse the current trend of high freshman mortality. The draft. The Dean's Office is expected by the draft boards to report students who are placed on warning in two courses. It is unfortunate that the spur to intellectual attainment has to be the individual's desire to escape service to his country. Since in the long run, however, college trained men are of more value to the nation than khakied clerks and truck drivers, the result of an individual's greater application may be beneficial both to himself and the nation. To college, then, with a purpose!

Where the Sidewalk Ends

Last fall the Men's Assembly passed a motion recommending to the administration that a sidewalk be installed along highway 30 between the Chi Psi Lodge and the Memorial Field House. There is still no sidewalk although almost an entire year has passed since the recommendation was made.

The danger to students who must walk in the road to get to athletic and social events at the Memorial Field House has not lessened since last fall. If funds are not available to finance construction of a permanent sidewalk, a temporary boardwalk could be built to minimize the danger as much as possible. We are glad we have a Memorial Field House, but we don't want a Memorial Sidewalk.

Four In Service; Draft Threatens Others

By Mark Hopkins

Towar Wade, Dwight S. Stimson and William S. Frei of the class of '52 and Norman M. Sassi '53 are among those students now serving with the U. S. Armed Forces. Mr. Wade and Mr. Frei are serving with the Air Force, Mr. Stimson is taking Navy training, and Mr. Sassi was appointed to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The Selective Service Board in Middlebury was under restriction not to make public the names of others from the college who have joined the service.

However, the Board did comment that 25 - 23 year olds were being called at present while the age group 19 through 22 will be called in accordance with the need. It was also reported that some Middlebury students will be called before February. This does not include, however, students ranking scholastically in the upper half of their class, according to last semester's grades, who automatically receive a deferred 2A rating. National Guardsmen and reservists may be called when needed and are not deferred because of college attendance.

It has been announced by W. Storrs Lee, Dean of Men, that he is expected by the Draft Board to report any man on warning in two subjects. Such men are subject to induction under the ruling that men scholastically in the lower half of their class and classified 1A may be called for induction at the discretion of the Board.

To come under the 2A rating a person must also have completed at least one academic year in a college, university, or similar institute of learning. Freshmen are thereby excluded from obtaining a deferment because of student status.

In a bulletin released by Colonel Fred S. Kent, State Selective Service Director, draft eligible men were warned that once they are notified to report for their preinduction physical they may not enlist in any branch of the Armed Forces. However, according to the local Selective Service Board, students of the 2A class will probably not be called for physicals until their draft status has changed.

A person not reporting for his preinduction physical is classed as a delinquent. The Board then has two courses to follow. 1) the case may be turned over to the Department of Justice for prosecution in the United States District Court, or 2) the local board may induct him immediately. Also under the heading of delinquents are those persons who failed to 1) fill out and return the classificati questionnaire ten days aft it was mailed, 2) notify h board of change of address, occupation or marital statu

Veterans who have serv ninety days in the arm forces between December 1941 and September 2, 1945 a classified 4A and are deferr unless the need for men b comes urgent. Also falli under the 4A class are vetera who have served twelve mont in the armed forces betwe September 1940 and June 19 and veterans who were in t service three years aft June 24, 1948.

Students drafted because their scholastic standing fa a twenty-one month plus dur tion induction.

Frosh Dance, Midd Nites Highlight Freshman Week

By Jan West

The Class of 1954! Another link in the chain of graduates and undergraduates of Middlebury College. Already the Freshmen are going through a rugged Commando course known as Freshman Week to familiarize them with the campus, college activities and facilities, to get acquainted with each other, and prepare themselves for they know not what.

Once the newcomers were settled, the women in their cheerful new dormitories, and the men in Starr and Painter, they were welcomed by the junior women counselors and Blue Key, respectively. Monday morning, bright and early, as cobwebs were brushed out of minds at ease for the summer, the round of placement and psychological examinations began.

The Freshman Dance, sponsored by Blue Key, is one of the more important Freshman Week activities, and is designed for the usual girl-meet-boy purposes.

Talks by Dr. Stratton an other members of the faculty meetings with student an faculty advisors, and intro ductions to student governme have given the freshmen mo of a complete picture of col lege life, so that today the were ready to take part i another phase of college li -- classes and study.

The traditional " Mid Nights" which, for the men was held Wednesday night, a which will be held Saturda night for the women, wit skits and singing, give th freshmen a further glimps into various aspects of Middl bury life and what to expect the future.

The Alumni Sports Night fo Freshman men, and the Freshm Outing for men and women sponsored by the Mountain Clu complete the week's activities The Class of 1954 is now rea to rise, shine and take it rightful place at Middlebur College.

News In Paragraphs

Alumni Sports Night, sponsored by the Middlebury Alumni Council for the freshman class, will be held this Saturday evening at 7:45 in the Memorial Field House. Dr. Stewart Ross, member of the board of trustees and former Midd football captain, will direct the evening's program, which will include brief talks by members of Middlebury's coaching staff, introduction of team captains, plus showing of recent Movietone News sports reels. Edgar J. Wiley, alumni secretary, will also speak on student alumni relations.

Freshman Outing Set For Saturday

The freshman's first glimpse of the rugged, out-door side of Middlebury extra-curricular life will come Saturday afternoon with the annual Mountain Club Freshman Outing. The outing will take place in back of Forest Hall from 2:30 to 6:00 p.m. unless rain shunts the activities to the Field House. Skyline members and tryouts will lead the songs and traditional activities and will serve a picnic supper.

This Sunday, Skyline members and sophomore tryouts will take equipment up to Breadloaf for the new cabin. They will also be selling Mountain Club membership tickets which entitle the holder to savings throughout the year both on Mt. Club activities and on Winter Carnival tickets.

The Masterminds

By Chuck Lauer

Most cold fall evenings at about 6:15 p.m. when all normal human beings are seated comfortably at their dinner tables, three husky looking gents can be found huddled together in a small room which passes for the coaches' dressing room at Porter Field. At first glance, one is quite likely to get the impression that these three gentlemen are engaged in a lively game of craps, but upon coming within closer hearing range one discovers this intent trio is involved in a deep discussion of that favorite American sport, football. These three healthy-looking guys happen to be none other than Midd's own football coaching staff, Head coach "Duke" Nelson, line mentor Dick Ciccolella, backfield director, Bobo Sheehan. Here at Middlebury we are lucky to have such a well qualified musketeer group, for not only do they love the game of football, but they also love working with young athletes. All too often in commercialized college football, this latter characteristic is sadly lacking in coaching staffs.

The short guy with the big smile and booming voice is Head Coach Duke Nelson. Duke is well acquainted around these parts, having garnered his diploma from the ivy walls of old Midd 'way back in '32. He covered himself with all kinds of glory by starring in just about every sport Midd had to offer with special emphasis on football and hockey. This is Duke's fifth year at the helm of the varsity squad, and if past performances mean anything, there should be some great football thrills for the cows that hang around Porter Field.

The young looking fella is Bobo Sheehan. Bobo also displayed his athletic prowess here in the Green Mountains with some memorable performances in football and skiing. This is Bobo's third year as varsity backfield coach.

Line Coach Dick Ciccolella rounds out the threesome. Dick arrived here with Duke in '46, and in that time has earned the deep respect of everyone he has come in contact with whether on or off the football field. Dick is a foreigner, having graduated from Manhattan College where he was named all-Metropolitan guard three years running. Dick's hard-hitting, well-coached lines have wreaked much havoc in opposing backfields the past four seasons.

The Ivy Tower

By Ken Nourse

With the hunting season on Russian bear about to open in Korea, seven hundred odd Middlebury men continue to play, what looks to be, a losing game of hide-and-go-seek with their respective draft boards. Bob Barker will act as front echelon for the Midd contingent of draft eligibles when he takes his physical in Burlington next month. If red-cheeked Uncle Joe permits, Mr. Barker will probably be spared from the fortunes of war for the rest of the year.

The draft isn't the only thing that Middlebury sport fans need worry about though. Take a good look at the 1950 football schedule. It's one of the toughest in small college circles. The only two games that might possibly be called "breathers" are the Norwich and Vermont tussles near the end of the schedule. This is "the" year for both Hamilton and St. Lawrence. There's no need wasting the space writing about Wesleyan, Tufts, Trinity and Union. They are good. No matter what the outcome, you fans can expect to see plenty of wide-open, thrilling football games at Porter Field this fall.

WITH THE PROS

Jack Mulcahy and John Corbisiero wound up the summer as teammates on the Braves,' Wellsville, N.Y., farm team (Class D Pony League). Ace's batting average was in the neighborhood of .295 including five homers. He's back at school to complete his last semester....Paul Farrell is currently playing with Schenectady (Phillies) in the Can-Am league playoffs. Jim Newman is pitching for Amsterdam (Yankees) in the same playoffs. In a regular season game Newman faced Farrell twice in the five innings that he worked. Jim whiffed Paul the first time up and forced the former "Dorchester Dart" to pop up to the infield the second time. After the pop-up, Paul turned to Jim and both began to chuckle. Teammates or opponents, they're both great competitors....Jim finished the season with a 4-2 record. He began as relief pitcher, then won a starter's berth....Paul finished the season with a .275 average and ranked high in the R.B.I. column. Rumor has it that he's all through with baseball. He is down to 160 pounds and mighty tired of viewing the countryside from a bus.

WHERE ARE THEY??

It looks like the "Grandstand View" for Westchester County. My predecessor, Mr. Samuel Ruxton Donnellon, has a line on a job with a White Plains paper. If Sam gets the job, he'll be number three man on the sports staff....Tink Bailey, who captained the 1947-48 National Champion Middlebury Ski Team, is still skiing out there in Aspen, Colo. Tink works for a beetle control outfit in the summer and for a sporting goods store in the winter....Towar Wade, a member of last year's football squad, has enlisted in the Army Air Corps....Bob Bigelow, the "iron hand" guard of last year, has found greener pastures in the business world... Bard Lindeman is working for the N.Y. DAILY NEWS. Hail the coming of another Red Smith... Tim Wallace has entered the Maryknoll Seminary in Boston. Those who knew Tim are not surprised. He didn't want to come back last year.

R.P.I. Game Valuable; Williams Here Saturday

By Bill Huey

"The Middlebury College student body will again see pre-war football during the 1950 season," - thus spoke head coach Duke Nelson in a recent interview. Duke went on to say that once again the sophomore contingent will be the largest in numbers, but as was true before the war, they will lack experience. However, what this bunch of youngsters must forfeit in seasoning they make it up with determination and spirit.

This year the Panthers' offensive attack will consist solely of the high flying T-formation, but it will vary somewhat from the style employed last year. Many variations -- unbalanced lines, flankers and the like -- will give it more of a dressed up appearance. The fate of the formation is largely determined by the ball-handling activity of the quarterback. At present a wide open battle is being waged over the position between veteran Burt Rathburn and sophomore Dick Allen -- experience versus youth might be a better caption.

The Middmen had their first opportunity to display their talents under fire when they scrimmaged R.P.I. at Troy last Saturday. Each team had the ball for half hour intervals; thus a true scoring picture cannot be presented -- 6 touchdowns for R.P.I. and 4 for Midd would be the unofficial tally. Coach Nelson was far from discouraged by the outcome, but he was convinced that much hard work on fundamentals, namely blocking and tackling, is in store for the squad. The R.P.I. passing attack was allowed to proceed unharried by the Midd forward wall, and thus the secondary pass defense found its jo doubly difficult. The rang Engineer ends were able t scoot into the clear time an time again for sizeable gains The Panthers meet Williams i a scrimmage on Porter Fiel this Saturday afternoon.

The squad returned for foot ball camp in sound physica shape as evidenced by the com parative scarcity of seriou injuries, although some d exist. Dick Day, a promisin candidate for the center berth suffered a severe shoulde separation accompanied b contusions and deep seate bruises during a practic session last week. From al reports Day will be sideline for at least three weeks. En Buzz Tilton was injured in th R.P.I. scrimmage when he at tempted a downfield block fol lowing an intercepted pass. dislocated shoulder is Tilton' malady also.

Walt Hollister, Vermon scoring champion of last year is forced to favor a bruise right leg. However, the speed back is fast recovering an will be in top shape com opening day. Don Lelong, ac defensive back, incurred bone bruise on his right ankl and has been confined to ligh workouts minus pads.

Bill Whittemore just re cently released from the hos pital following an attack o pneumonia is just now beginnin to take up his center chores End Mike Alvaro also had siege in the hospital wher he was laid up with an in fected leg.

This year's backfield wil consist of such fast movin quick breaking players, Walt Hollister, Bill Stot Dick Worthington, Geor Barker, and Don Beers.

1950 Fraternity Rushing To Begin September 26

The 1950 rushing program will begin next Tuesday evening, September 26, when men not affiliated with fraternities visit Middlebury's nine fraternities in nine rotating groups on that night and on the following night. The following week the smoker program will begin, under which each rushee will visit three houses a week for three weeks, each visit being of one hour duration. This program replaces the dinners which have been formerly held.

Freshman dormitories are closed to fraternity men until October 3, unless permission of the Interfraternity Council officers is obtained. In this case, fraternity matters cannot be discussed.

After October 3, visits are permitted under the 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. rule, with the exception of Mondays, when such visits must end at 6:00 p.m. The library will be out-of-bounds for rushing at all times.

The rushing program will close the first week in Nov.

MAKE YOUR NEXT PACK CHESTERFIELD!

BEFORE YOU SMOKE THEM
... you can tell Chesterfields will smoke milder.
AFTER YOU SMOKE THEM
... you have no unpleasant after-taste.
WHILE YOU SMOKE THEM you get more pleasure than any other cigarette can give you—that's why millions of smokers say: THEY SATISFY.
